Baby Celebration LA - Producers Seeking the Best Manufacturers for First Annual Upscale Consumer Oriented Trade Show.

September 12, 2006, Los Angeles, CA - Patrice Meluskey and Penny Domschot, owners of Seascope Productions and producers of the first annual "Baby Celebration LA" invite the most trend setting baby product manufacturers and service providers to participate in their up market consumer oriented trade show to be held at the Los Angeles Convention Center April 28 - 29, 2007.

Baby Celebration LA is a one-of-a-kind, two-day event for "hip moms and trendy tots" presenting all things baby in an atmosphere attractive to manufacturers, retailers and consumers alike. This exclusive event is expected to draw more than 25,000 attendees and focuses on fashion, design trends, products and services appealing to families with above average incomes and exceptional purchasing power.

Baby Celebration LA uniquely combines aspects of both a trade show and a consumer show. Manufacturers may use Baby Celebration LA as a vehicle to launch new products, build relationships with potential vendors, create profitable co-op opportunities and obtain valuable consumer input for use in product development and targeted marketing. Consumers with a knowledgeable baby market awareness will be able to find the latest products and most desired fashion lines that will ensure their baby's individuality.

"Generally trade shows are strictly reserved for manufacturers and consumer shows for retailers. We feel we have created a formula that successfully brings together the best of both worlds", said Patrice Meluskey. "This show is unique in that it affords opportunities for just about anyone interested in the rapidly expanding up to the minute, high-quality segment of the pre-natal to pre-school market", said Domschot."

With over 25 years of combined experience, the pair has created and promoted niche-market shows and events including the extraordinarily successful San Diego Interior Design & Landscape Expo and The Roseville Interior Design & Outdoor Living Expo. This spring they are realizing a dream, bringing their innovative and successful Expo concept to the world of expectant moms, parents, grandparents and all those who love babies.

This one weekend event is expected to showcase the latest up-market products and services displayed in approximately 400 booths. An array of items will be featured for baby safety, education and wellness. Top-end manufacturers and designers will present furniture, maternity wear, baby gear, and baby couture. There will also be informative workshops, special guest speakers and inspired fashion shows.

Baby Celebration LA will be the “must attend” baby event of the season. Manufacturers are encouraged to participate on any of several levels; sponsorships, exhibits, or promotions.
